As his breakthrough year comes to a close, rapper Eminem will return to his club roots with a December 31 gig at The Tunnel in New York City.

Eminem has been enjoying some down time after his European tour in November was cut short after the rapper became sick with a chest infection, and the New Year's Eve show at The Tunnel will mark his first concert since then.

During the time off, Eminem has continued to work on his new solo album and has also been producing a record for D-12, a rap outfit from his adopted hometown of Detroit. Eminem also recently filmed a video with mentor Dr. Dre for "Forgot About Dre," a track off Doc's new album, "2001."

Tickets for Eminem's Tunnel show will run between $75 and $175 (which includes an all-night open bar) and are available at The Tunnel box office and via Ticketmaster.
